III. PROFESSIONAL AND ACADEMIC ACTIVITIES

Having completed her basic studies in Medicine 1966-1968 she completed the Residence in Public Health and Social Medicine at the University of el Valle, Cali, Colombia, obtaining the Master degree in Public Health in 1968.

Back in Buenos Aires she was designated full time Deputy Professor at the School of Public Health at the University of Buenos Aires. She coordinated and organized courses in Public Health for pre graduate students at the School of Medicine. In 1972, at her return to Buenos Aires she entered the Epidemiology Department of the School of Public Health, Buenos Aires University. She worked there until 1976 when she resigned due to political changes in the leadership of the University of Buenos Aires. She continued research and epidemiological studies in health care services.

In 1981 she collaborates with the creation of the Epidemiological Research Center from the National Academy of Medicine, starting October 1981 until 1985, she was designated Chief of the Research and Advisory Department of the Center in the National Academy of Medicine. Among the studies and research activities undertaken, she coordinates the First breast cancer collaborative study undertaken in Argentina, in which more than 20 centers from Argentina participated through the Argentine Society of Mastology.

In 1984 when the democratic government took over she was designated in the Ministry of Health and Social Welfare. She creates and coordinates the Program, Women, Health and Development, which promotes the health and rights of women, especially sexual and reproductive rights. Through the Program Women, Health and Development, members of the staff of Public Health care services in all the country were trained on women rights and needs, especially sexual and reproductive.

In 1984 she is designated Chief of the Argentine Delegation to the Regional Latin American and Caribbean Meeting to examine and assess the achievements of the Decade of the United Nations for Women: Equality, Development and Peace, undertaken in Cuba, and acted as Reporter of the meeting. In 1985 she was official Delegate to the Women World Conference in Nairobi, Kenya, representing Argentina.

In 1986 she takes over the National Direction of International Relations from the National Ministry of Health and Social Welfare, keeping the coordination of the Women Health and Development Program as an honorary post.

From 1986 to 1989 she integrated the Sub-Committee of the Women, Health and Development Program of the Pan American Health Organization, was member of the Council of the Human reproduction Program of the World Health Organization and was member of the Board of UNICEF. In July 1989 with the new government she dismissed.

In September 1989 she creates with a group of professional women the Foundation for Studies and Research on Women –FEIM- which she presided since its creation. The mission of FEIM since it was founded is to improve the status of women in Argentina, particularly in health, with special emphasis in reproductive and sexual health. For this reason it undertakes research, training, promotes advocacy for the rights of women, mainly the political, sexual and reproductive rights, as well as to improve in a comprehensive manner the status of women in the country and the region.

In 1990 she became member of the Executive Committee of the Reproductive Rights Research Grants Program for Latin America -PRODIR- organized by the MC Arthur and the Carlos Chagas Foundation. She was member of this Committee until 1996 and participated in the two first rounds of selection of the 40 research projects undertaken.

In 1991 she was elected Director of the Latin America and the Caribbean Women Health Network –LACHWN- Board. As board member she participates in the process to restructure the Network and the process of election of Board members. In 1996 integrates the coordination group of the Follow Up project to evaluate ICPD Plan of Action implementation in countries in the region. This project was developed with UNFPA cooperation; the first phase includes five countries: Brazil, Chile, Mexico, Nicaragua and Peru. Conclusions and results were presented in the Hague Forum and in the ICPD+5 UNGASS. In 1998 participates in the creation and coordination of the Itinerary University develop by the LACWHN and the Ford Foundation. She participates as professor in “Globalization and Health Reform Sector” and “Sexual and Reproductive Health” modules. In may 2000 resigned to the LACWHN board but continue to be related as professor in the Itinerary University.

In 1992, Mabel Bianco, representing FEIM, along with women’s rights and HIV/AIDS activists and organizations of women infected and affected by HIV/AIDS from around the world came together in Amsterdam at the VIII International AIDS Conference and created the International AIDS Women’s Caucus in order to promote the consideration, inclusion and incorporation of women’s issues at the International AIDS Conferences as well as at regional, national and United Nations meetings. She has been coordinating it since its creation.

Since 1993, member of LACASSO (Latin American and the Caribbean Council of Aids) and in 1998-99, Regional Secretary. Since 2000 FEIM is member of the coalition of NGOs as Focal Point of LACCASO in Argentina.

In 1997 with 7 NGOs FEIM made the first legal action against the Ministry of Health because they did not provide Antiretroviral Therapy-ARV- to people living with HIV and she supported the fight of a positive woman and her child as a paradigmatic case. Together the NGOs organized a demonstration in the Ministry of Health and requested the Minister to provide ARV. The Justice made an appeal obligating the Ministry to provide ARV in 48 hours after the denunciation. While they sustained the judgment, it was won in 1998, appealed twice and in 2002 the Supreme Court granted us the right.

In 1998-1999, FEIM developed through LACCASO with UNAIDS the first country studies in Latin American and Caribbean countries about Human Rights. The studies were: In Argentina, “Human Rights and Access to Treatment for HIV/AIDS in Argentina”; in Brazil, “On the limitations and potential of studies on the impact of public policies with respect to the HIV/AIDS epidemic: some methodological ideas based on the case of Brazil”; in Dominican Republic, “Migratory Routes from Haiti to Dominican Republic: Consequences for HIV/AIDS and the Human rights of Infected people”; in Mexico, “Case Study: Access to treatment for HIV/AIDS in Mexico during 1998: from a social perspective”; in Venezuela, “Magdalena’s Story: The reproductive rights of a street teenager in Caracas”. All the reports were published in 1999.

In 1999 FEIM organized a campaign for the AIDS International Day, in which more than 100 young and adolescents from Buenos Aires City and the Greater Buenos Aires gathered to sensitize young people on the epidemic. Since 1996 FEIM, under Dr. Bianco, has guided and trained more than 1200 adolescents in Argentina as peer educators for their rights and particularly sexual and reproductive health and rights. This led to the creation of the National Network of Adolescents and Young People for Sexual and Reproductive Health (Red Nacional de Jóvenes y Adolescentes para la Salud Sexual y Reproductiva) which is nowadays made up of different young and adolescents groups from all over Argentina, promoting sexual and reproductive health and rights with gender perspective, HIV and AIDS prevention and information that are adolescent friendly, young people participation, access to public information, among others. FEIM provides counseling and technical and administrative support.

In January 2000 she is designated Chief of the Coordinator Unit of HIV/AIDS y STDs at the National Ministry of Health. This unit was created to integrate the direction of the National Program of HIV/AIDS and Project LUSIDA, a project of struggle against AIDS depending from the Ministry of Health and financially supported by the World Bank. In November 2001 she resigns to the Post due to the lack of political will on HIV/AIDS from the top ministerial level.

In May 2000 she is selected Technical Secretary of the Group of Horizontal Cooperation - HTCG- integrated by Chiefs of National AIDS Programs of 22 countries in the region. During the period she held this post until May 2001, the HTCG organizes the First Regional Forum on HIV/AIDS in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

In 2000-2005, bills on the protection of the rights of children started to be discussed in the Argentine Congress until finally in 2005 the National Act on the Comprehensive Protection of the Rights of Girls, Boys and Adolescents was passed. By representing FEIM and the RedNac, Mabel Bianco and Cecilia Correa, respectively, advocated with parliamentarians to promote the Convention on the Right of the Child and the ultimate passing of this act.

In 2002/03 she organized the Itinerary University in Argentina, developed in Córdoba and was responsible of the Health Sector Reform and The impact on Sexual and Reproductive health modules. She was also the coordinator and professor of those modules in the courses in Ecuador and Brazil. In 2003 she was panelist in the evaluation of the Itinerary University Experience organized by LACWHN and presented “Derecho a la Salud: Reflexiones desde las Reformas al Sector y la perspectiva de género” in the “Seminario Reforma de la Salud”, Red de Salud de las Mujeres Latinoamericanas y del Caribe –RSMLAC-, 1 al 3 de Octubre 2003, Lima, Perú. In 2004 and 2005 she was professor in the Itinerary University in Cuenca, Ecuador and Guatemala.

From January 2002 to December 2005, she was appointed Ad-honorem Advisor for the Commission on Childhood, Adolescence, Family and Women’s Issues of the National Representative Chamber in the Argentine Parliament. Since January 2014 and up to date, she has also been Advisor in this Commission.

Since 2003 and until 2011 with three others organizations created and coordinates the National Consortium on Sexual & Reproductive Rights with the participation of 400 NGOs in Argentina of monitoring the guarantee of Sexual & Reproductive rights including HIV/AIDS response for all people including adolescents and young people. Particularly materials and studies about the problems for adolescents to be informed and provide services were addressed in order to improve the access of this group to the services. Despite some advances, there are still many barriers.

In 2005 she participated in the 10th International Women and Health Meeting, in New Delhi, India. Presenting “The Impact of Health Sector Reform Policies on Sexual and Reproductive Health in Argentina. In that meeting she represented the LACWHN in the activities organized by the Women’s Health Project School of Public Health, University of Witwatersrand, South Africa: Sexual and Reproductive Rights in the Health Sector Reform projects. She was panelist in the workshop: Reforms of the Health Sector and its implication in the Sexual and Reproductive Health care services. She also participated in the panel: Training Initiatives in the Health Sector Reform and Health Care Services of Sexual and Reproductive Health, presenting and discussing the experience of LACWHN in the Itinerary University since 1997 training health care professionals, authorities and women’s activists groups, including services to address girls, adolescents and young people to sexual and reproductive health and rights services.

From 2002-2011, Mabel Bianco was member of the Reference Group on HIV and Human Rights, UNAIDS, a body designed to advise UNAIDS on all matters relating to HIV and human rights and on how it can strengthen the capacity of governments, civil society and the private sector to protect and promote human rights in relation to HIV, and how it can best operationalize human rights and GIPA (Greater Involvement of People Living with HIV) principles in UNAIDS’ policies and technical support.

Board member of IWHC (International Women’s Health Coalition) since 2002 and Vice Chair since 2008 till 2010. Through this position, she was able to take the voice of women and girls to international negotiations on women’s rights and health. She also promoted the work with women and adolescents in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean as IWHC is a leading organization and advocate for women’s and girls’ leadership and sexual and reproductive health services.

Board member Global Steering Committee of World AIDS Campaign since 2006 till 2010.

Member of the Civil Society Task Force to advise the President of the UN General Assembly and UNAIDS on participation of civil society organizations in the 2006 AIDS High Level Review Meeting, New York from 31 May to 2 June 2006.

Coordinator of International Advocacy Project “Strategies from the South: Building Synergies in HIV/AIDS and Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights” since 2006 till 2011. “Strategies...” was a group of 39 major international and regional networks from Asia, Africa and Latin America and the Caribbean, with work on HIV/AIDS, Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights, and key populations, dedicated to improving the HIV/AIDS response by international and regional joint advocacy and by putting power, gender and sexuality issues back on the table within the broader framework of human rights. In early 2006 they first gathered together by opening a series of international and regional dialogues that were carried out over four years, where they explored the agreements and disagreements that exist among networks and identified possibilities and priorities for cross-movement collaboration and future joint advocacy. Joint presentations and joint research projects were carried out at regional and international levels. A main issue addressed was the right of adolescents and young people to comprehensive sexuality education and to eliminate the abstinence as the only intervention to prevent HIV.

In 2006, the Women Won’t Wait. End HIV & Violence against Women. NOW!, International Campaign was created by FEIM along with other NGOs and networks worldwide working to promote women's health and human rights in the struggle to address HIV and AIDS and end all forms of violence against women and girls. FEIM was International Steering Group Member from 2006; Regional Coordinator, 2008-2010; Campaign Co-coordinator, 2010-2014; and since 2014 Coordinator.

In 2007, Mabel Bianco as representative of FEIM became member of the Council for Public Policies in Gender (Resolution 274/2007)–National Ministry of Defense, Argentina, created on that year. This agency is a new space created for analysis and proposal for transforming practices in the area of women in the three armed forces. It is a joint Committee integrated by women’s from the three forces and experts from the academia, civil society and government. Many discriminations existing for women in the armed forces were suggested and included.

Since its creation in 2007, FEIM has been NGO member representing the gender area in the Council on the Children and Adolescents of the City of Buenos Aires, created to promote and articulate public policies addressing children and adolescents in such geographical area. FEIM served as plenary member through Mabel Bianco and Cecilia Correa in the period 2007-2011 and has been serving in 2013-2015. For 2016, it will be alternate member until 2017, when it will take the official position again.

In 2008 member, Gender Equality Architecture Reform –GEAR- a global women’s groups’ activist to promote the new architecture in UN for women. She was the Focal Point for Latin America and the Caribbean, till 2012 when UN Women was established and GEAR decided to finish. Also since 2012, she has been elected member of the Civil Society Advisory Committee of Latin America and the Caribbean to UN Women.

In 2009, Mabel Bianco becomes member of the Developing Country NGO Delegation to the Board of the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria, as LAC representative until the present. She was also Member, Technical Review Panel (TRP) of the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria in 2009, as gender expert. Core Council Member of the Technical Working Group on Monitoring and Evaluation of Prevention for Most-at-Risk Populations, UNAIDS MERG, 2008-2009.

In 2009, she was appointed member of the Global Task Force on Women, Girls, Gender Equality and HIV by the UNAIDS Programme Coordinating Board (PCB) to urgently move forward the agenda on Women, Girls, Gender Equality and HIV and to operationalize the UNAIDS Action Framework: Addressing Women, Girls, Gender Equality and HIV. She became member of the Reference Group for the Mid-Term Review of the UNAIDS Agenda for Women and Girls in 2012, a group to support effective and meaningful participation and appropriate guidance throughout the mid-term review process.

Founder and Coordinator of Women ARISE, a global coalition of diverse women's networks/groups to strengthen women's and girls' issues and voices at the 2010 International AIDS Conference in Vienna and continues advocating for women's and adolescents' rights related to sexual and reproductive health care systems and HIV.

Dr. Bianco was coordinator of the Global Virtual Consultation for the Evaluation of the Gender Equality Strategy of the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria, developed by FEIM in partnership with the GCWA of UNAIDS, 2011. This evaluation commended by the Global Fund Board was based on the virtual consultation, discussion and focal group interviews with women. It took place in 97 countries and provided 709 responses on line and 223 through mail and focal points. The aims of the consultation were to document women's perceptions on the Strategy and provide recommendations.

In 2012, she has been elected member of the WHO Civil Society Reference Group on HIV, group of people with practical experience at community level and on public health issues and understanding of civil society and WHO processes.

In 2012 she along with a group of regional women's organizations/networks created the Regional NGO Committee on the Status of Women (CSW) in Latin America and the Caribbean, CoNGO CSW LAC. She is the co-chair since its creation. The Committee advocates for women's rights and the advancement of women and girls in Latin America and the Caribbean, with the aim of strengthening the regional processes to influence gender equality and the women's empowerment agenda; building up fora to exchange information and debate in depth on topics and policies related to women under the consideration of the UN; and training women and organizations on how to advocate in their own countries and in UN contexts. The Committee actively participates in regional and international meetings, carries out studies with the collaboration of organizations across the region, and participates in UN events and sessions to advocate for women's empowerment and equality.

In 2013, she was elected member of the Global Coalition on Women and AIDS (GCWA) Advisory Group, which she co-chairs since 2015. The GCWA is a worldwide alliance bringing together civil society groups, including networks of women living with HIV, women's rights organizations, AIDS service organizations, faith-based organizations, networks of women from key populations, care-giving networks, men and boy's organizations working explicitly for gender equality, the private sector, and the United Nations (UN) system. Hosted by the UNAIDS Secretariat, its mission is to mobilize leadership and harness political will to influence policies, laws, programs, and funds, to promote actions that empower women and girls living with and affected by HIV, to prevent HIV transmission, and to live fulfilling and productive lives. Since its inception, the GCWA continues to evolve to best meet the needs of women and girls, redefining and setting new strategic directions responding to the dynamic nature of the HIV epidemic, women's sexual and reproductive health and rights and shifting aid architectures.

Co-Moderator of the Post-2015 Health Thematic Consultation Online Discussion: Leveraging Lessons from the Global HIV Response for Improved Global Health in the Post-2015 Development Agenda coordinated by UNAIDS in January-February 2013.

Mabel Bianco has been a member of the Women’s Major Group –WMG- especially in all the process to develop the Post-2030 since 2012. In 2014, she participated in the High Level Panel Forum as Women’s Major Group representative and in 2015 she attended the last negotiations on the New Development Agenda in New York in July. She also participated in the UN Assembly in September when the Agenda was approved. In the WMG she participated in the discussion of indicators. This year she is also working in the preparation of women’s groups to participate in the HLPF.

In 2014, for the CSW 59 through the NGO Committee on the Status of Women (CSW) in Latin America and the Caribbean -CoNGO CSW LAC- she coordinated and was the compiler of the report of the civil society and women’s/ feminist’s groups in Latin America and the Caribbean on the implementation of the Platform of Action of Beijing, “At 20 years of the Beijing Platform of Action: Civil Society Regional Document Beijing +20 from LAC” . The report was presented in the preparatory meeting of the women’s ministries from Latin America and the Caribbean in November 2014 in ECLAC. The document in Spanish and English was brought to CSW and presented there in March 2015. The document highlighted the advances achieved according to civil society, indicating the actions that had to be taken in each of the 12 areas of concern of the Declaration and the Platform of Action, to overcome the barriers that currently prevent women and girls from full guarantee of their rights. The aim of it was to help governments and civil society progress more rapidly toward equality and the full exercise of women’s and girls’ rights and to provide recommendations that emerged from the 59th session of the Commission of the Status of Women (CSW) that took place in March 2015.

In 2016 through the CoNGO CSW LAC as Co Chair Mabel Bianco coordinated the elaboration of a document : “Proposal Of Civil Society organizations to the CSW60 “ with recommendations agreed among 56 regional organizations/ networks elaborated in the Regional CS Consultation on CSW 60, organized by the CONGO CSW LAC on January 25, prior to the 53rd Meeting of the Presiding Officers of the Regional Conference on Women in January in Chile by ECLAC and it was presented to the women’s ministries in the preparatory Meeting for CSW60. The document was welcomed by all the regional women’s ministries, it holds the different Consensus elaborated in previous years and it was taken to CSW 60 in March 2016.
